

Get Your Artwork PUBLISHED!

More than 100 artworks are selected each year to be published in full-color in the Art Quotient Art Annual (AQ) for High School artists. Your submission is completely FREE! You may enter more than one piece of artwork. AQ selects several pieces to be published and one could be yours. It's that simple! Not in an art class? You're eligible whether or not you're enrolled in any art class. AQ highlights art scholarships, art college & university information, exhibit opportunities, museum information and much more! AQ is distributed to local colleges, high schools and libraries, as well as major art schools throughout the U.S.

The top ten artists are prominently featured in the art annual and receive a frameable certificate or trophy. One Best of Show is also featured! Awards may be given to additional deserving artists as well.

Rules of Participation 2006 Art Annual

Eligibility

Any original Digital or Fine Art project—to include sculpture—created between September 1, 2005 and April 28, 2006. Ineligibilities include digital artwork created using any 3-D rendering software including, but not limited to, Bryce 3-D, Poser, etc., and art created for commercial and/or advertising use, such as logos and ads. Use of photography in art is eligible as art if the artist is also the photographer; use of royalty-free photos in artwork are not eligible in any circumstance.

All students must be enrolled in any home, private, or public high school by December 31, 2005 and at least 13 years old. Collaborative works of art are not eligible. Artwork is accepted internationally using these guidelines.

Judges

One Best of Show and ten additional winners are selected by a panel of judges who are well-known individuals involved in the arts. Judges to be announced at a later date.

Submission Deadline

All entries must be postmarked by APRIL 28, 2006. Entries postmarked after this date may be returned.

Entering Your Artwork

All art submitted must be in 35mm transparency or digital format. Digital submissions must be TIFF format at 300 DPI (5x7) with a hard copy attached. All other submissions will be returned or artist(s) called at Art Quotient's discretion. Please do not send your original artwork as it may not be returned. If you would like your files returned, please enclose proper return postage.

All transparencies and digital files must be clearly marked with artist's name and contact phone number.

Important Notes

All submissions must be accompanied by signature from a parent, art instructor, other teacher or principal (use attached form in space provided). AQ is not liable for any copyright infringement on the part of the entrant. Artwork found not to be original is automatically disqualified.

Artwork submitted for publication does not become the property of AQ, but AQ reserves the right to use any submission for advertising, promotional, prints framed for Art Quotient exhibits and on printed items such as t-shirts and glassware sold for the purpose to further market the artists published in AQ. Actual prints of artwork are only sold with permission of artist. Artwork may be exhibited on the internet for up to 18 months after publication and possibly longer.

Winners are notified by letter or telephone. AQ reserves the right to forfeit and return all property and any payments to artists.

Copies of Art Quotient may be purchased in advance at a special rate. Use separate order form for details.

Payment

Submissions are FREE. Entries received without properly completed submission form are disqualified. Art Annuals purchased must be paid in full before Art Quotient is published to receive discount rate. Selected artists for publication are notified in time to purchase copies of Art Quotient at a special rate.
